OCTOBER, 1963

'38 Grid Squad Selects MVP

St. Joe Appoints Bogan And Gary to Board of Lay Trustees

James R. Bogan

Lee J. Gary

Rensselaer, Ind. — James R. Bogan, manager of the Chicago office of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner, and Smith, and Lee J. Gary, senior member of the Chicago law firm of Gary, Parker, Juettner, and Cullinan, have been appointed to the board of lay trustees at Saint Joseph's College.

Bogan, 506 Wildwood Drive, Park Forest, was graduated from Saint Joseph's in 1943. After serving in the Navy during World War II he joined the staff at Saint Joseph's as assistant registrar in July 1946 and became the registrar in July 1950. He left the College in June 1953 to join Merrill Lynch as an account executive trainee. Bogan, who also is a Fellow of Saint Joseph's, received an M.S. degree in education from Purdue University in June, 1950.

Gary attended DeLaSalle Institute in Chicago and received an LL.B. degree from DePaul University in 1925. He is a lay trustee of DePaul and is board chairman and immediate past president of the Catholic Lawyers Guild of Chicago. Gary is director of three organizations — Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of Chicago; Federal Sign and Signal Corporation; and Gaylord Products, Inc. He is president of the Arthur J. Schmitt Foundation and vice president and director of the Acme Resin Corporation.

H. W. Reas '49 Helps Discover New Drug

Dr. Herman W. Reas '49 had an important part in the clinical investigation of a new prescription drug, Mucomyst (acetylcysteine), being introduced this week.

Dr. Reas is the pediatrician-in-charge of the Cystic Fibrosis Clinic of the St. Louis Children's Hospital, Washington University School of Medicine, St. Louis, Mo.

Through a clinical study supported by the Mead Johnson Research Center, Dr. Reas describes the effectiveness of the new drug when administered to cystic fibrosis patients. Briefly, he found it helpful in liquefying the thick mucus which frequently clogs the lungs and bronchial tubes in cystic fibrosis. He has reported his results both in the Journal of Pediatrics and at a medical meeting in Miami.

Dr. Reas received his M. D. degree from the University of St. Louis in 1952, and is a graduate of St. Joseph's College. He interned at Mercy Hospital, Toledo, Ohio. Dr. Reas then served in the United States Army for two years as Regimental Surgeon and returned to St. Louis in 1955 and the Children's Hospital for his residence.

and Machine Co. of Bellwood, Illinois. The second donation was made by Ernst & Ernst, a Chicago C.P.A. firm. This donation was made on behalf of Mr. Horace Barden, head partner of the Chicago office.

John Riordan, President of S.A.M., said that the money will be used to support the academic activities of S.A.M. this year.

Alumni Set Record At '63 Homecoming

Indianapolis Alumni Host Grid Backers

The Indianapolis chapter outscored Butler with one of the most successful off-campus alumni gatherings ever held. Following the heartbreaking 27-0 loss to the Bulldogs, more than 135 Puma backers adjourned to the west side Knights of Columbus hall for a buffet and social session.

The Frank Thompson's, Paul O'Connors', Joe McNamara's, Jack McCann's and Mark Kelly's engineered a party that few who attended will ever forget. The hall decorations conveyed the atmosphere of a St. Joe pep rally. Team blankets hung from the walls, tankards and mugs livened up the mantle over the fire place, posts were turned into peppermint sticks with red and white ribbon and fresh clusters of red and white carnations were on the tables. All of this topped off with good food, beverages and lively conversation certainly took much of the sting out of the loss to Butler.

The party got under way about 4:30 P.M. and people were still coming in at 7 P.M. The gathering attracted a large number of parents whose sons are at St. Joe as well as alumni and friends. In addition, several faculty members and wives of the coaching staff made the trip and also made themselves heard in the Butler Bowl before the buffet. (See editorial on Page 2).

A beautiful day, the new facilities of the Halleck Center, reunions for the classes of '53 and '58 and for the '38 football squad brought a record number of alumni back to their alma mater for the Diamond Jubilee homecoming October 12th.

More than 800 alumni, along with their wives and dates, came in from throughout the midwest. Many of last year's class returned and Mr. Paul Brugger, '07, led the old guard alums.

As the alumni entered the college's main entrance, they were registered and given identifying badges and ribbons. This in-car registration gave a very accurate picture of homecoming attendance. The class of '63 had the largest number of returnees — 55.

Schreiber MVP

Eight members of the 1938 football team — Fred Jones, Bill Curosh, Jerry Yocis, Jim Ikovic, Henry Tippmann, Bill Kozielski and Bob Conley — selected Dick Schreiber, a senior tackle from Skokie, Ill. as the Most Valuable Player in the football game. He was given the Rudy Volz Memorial trophy by Jim Biernat, winner of the first Volz MVP award last year. The Pumas dropped a tough 23-0 decision to a talent laden Ball State team which might easily win the Indiana Collegiate Conference this year.

After the game, an alumni-senior reception was held in the cafeteria of Halleck Center. At the same time, the classes of '53 and '58 held very successful ten and five year reunions respectively. The '53 grads who attended are: Marty Knapp, Bob Carney, Fred Hollinden, Boyd Reutebuch, Jerry Wenzel, Robert Hicks, Dick Van Der Kerr, John Pastrick, Jim Brennan, Joe Pindell, Ron Hospodka, Frank Lynn, Eugene Rueve, Chuck

Editorial

Well Done !!!

by Jerry Gladu

After the Butler game Saturday, October 19th, student council president Pat Murphy and I attended the buffet and reception sponsored by the Indianapolis alumni chapter.

If you read the story on page one, you know that the party was a great success. Everything was well arranged, details were taken care of and everyone was made to feel quite welcome.

Why was this reception so well attended and so well received? It was a success because a huge amount of effort went into planning and staging the affair. The wives of the Indianapolis alumni worked long hours to prepare the food and work on countless details. Weeks before the event, letters were sent out and prizes gathered. The hall had to be decorated, flowers purchased and dozens of other odds and ends had to be taken care of.

More than one unique idea came out of the project. For example, I thought the hiring of a secretary for five hours one day to call alumni in the Indianapolis area and remind them of the party, showed ingenuity.

Pat Murphy remarked more than once during the party, and afterward on the drive home, how much he was impressed with the turnout and with the way the people seemed to really enjoy the get-together.

Was it worth all the work, effort and planning? Why not ask the Thompsons, McNamara's, O'Connors, McCann's, Kelly's or anyone else who helped put this event over. I'm sure their wide smiles will more than answer the question.

Nice going Indianapolis chapter. We're proud of you.

Just Cruising

You can see Rome, Paris, Madrid in '64.

In the last issue of Contact we ran our first story concerning our proposed Diamond Jubilee tour of Europe. To date, we have had a number of people write back to us stating their interest in such a tour.

Our tentative timetable and itinerary would include:

1. A 23 day, first class tour of seven European countries during August of 1964.
2. Travel to and from Europe by jet and first class travel and accommodations while in Europe.
3. Escort service by competent travel agents and a representative of the St. Joseph's College alumni association.
4. Countries would include England, France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Monaco, Spain, with a four day stop in Rome, to be met and greeted by the Precious Blood Fathers from the Mother House in Rome. Most probably, they would show us around and take us to places that wouldn't be seen on the regular tour.
5. Departure point — Chicago.
6. Cost — All expenses, including round trip on jets, well under $900.00.

What better way to see Europe than with people you know and the group fare saves every traveler more than several hundred dollars.

Everyone at sometime in his life, daydreams about visiting the continent. Here is a chance for you, a St. Joe alumnus, to enjoy a first class tour designed specifically for our group.

If you would be interested in such a tour, fill out and return the form below.

'43 Grad Opens Venders Confab In Boston

The opening address at the 35th annual meeting of the Boston Conference on Distribution which was held on October 14-15 was delivered by G. R. Schreiber, '43, editor and publisher of Vend Magazine, Chicago. Schreiber's speech was entitled, "Automatic Vending in the Unautomatic Future."

Dick Schreiber entered the vending industry at the beginning of the industry's great growth period. He began a study of the industry in 1945 while he was a member of the University of Chicago faculty and executive news editor of The Billboard Publishing Company.

Schreiber entered the publishing business as a feature writer for a group of Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and Indiana newspapers. In 1943, he joined the University of Chicago where, in addition to teaching, he served as advisor to University publications and director of student activities. He resigned from the University in 1946 to devote full time to Vend (first issue published November, 1946) and the vending industry.

Schreiber is the author of several books, among them the first book on the vending industry ("Automatic Selling," published 1954 by John Wiley & Sons, New York) and "A Concise History of Vending in the U.S.A." published in 1961.

From

Dear Jerry,

The minute Dave (Kramer) drove me along the lane to the main building, the first thing to come to my mind was the day when I was memorizing an essay entitled "Baby's Hood" — silly for a college boy! You might say it was merely a high school then.

Those wonderful new buildings and the color scheme in the interior of the chapel. I surely enjoyed the singing of the Glee Club and the choir that sang at high mass because of the fact I'm a member of St. Bernard Church male choir, Springfield Liedertafel glee club, Moose Variety shows, Minstrels, Barber Shop Quartets, etc.

The meals, cocktail parties and the dances were out of this world. A few more cocktails and I believe I would have danced the twist.

Surely enjoyed talking to Father Ildephonse and Father Scheidler, discussing those college years.

I received the catalogue and data this morning. I'll do all in my power to talk to high school graduates to persuade them to come to St. Joe. Too bad the team lost the football game. We can't win them all.

A million thanks to you, Dave and Bob (Gaynor) for making this trip possible. I'll never forget it. At the present time I feel 40 years younger.

Yours,
Paul Brugger
Class of 1907

(Editor's note: Mr. Brugger returned to St. Joe for homecoming, marking his first visit to the campus since his graduation in 1907).

Dear Jerry:

Just a hurried note to say that distance prevents me from participating in the Homecoming celebration this year. It's the first one I've missed in 24 years and you can be sure that I'll be with you all in spirit. After being a part of the St. Joe faculty and family for twenty-three years, you can be sure that I'm still very much interested in what transpires on both the Rensselaer and Calumet Center campuses. Believe me, receiving Shavings, Stuff, and Contact regularly, is like the proverbial letter from home, and I look forward to each issue.

I have two interesting jobs out here in Santa Rosa, California — chaplain at Los Guilucos School for Girls and at Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital. The former is a detention home for delinquent girls between the ages of ten and eighteen from all over the state of California. This is a far cry from teaching college students and seminarians — a real challenge, especially since many of them come because of truancy from school. Sometimes the work is a bit frustrating but every once in awhile you feel that you've done something for one of these kids and that makes it worthwhile. I've had to learn a whole new vocabulary — and you can't find these words in any dictionary.

There are a lot of St. Joe alumni out here and I hope to be able to contact more of them as I find the time. Hope to get back to the campus before this Diamond Jubilee year is over. It's off to a grand start.

Father C. G. Kern, C.P.P.S., '31

Dayton Chapter Meets

Father William Shields and Father Frank Spanbauer from the admissions office spoke briefly about their policies but stressed that the two basic selling points of St. Joseph's is that (1) it is Catholic and (2) it is small.

To better able the admissions office to recruit students in the Dayton-Springfield area, Bob Ryan was designated as the St. Joseph's College recruitment representative in the Dayton area with Father John Bolan as an alternate.

Dance Follows Dinner

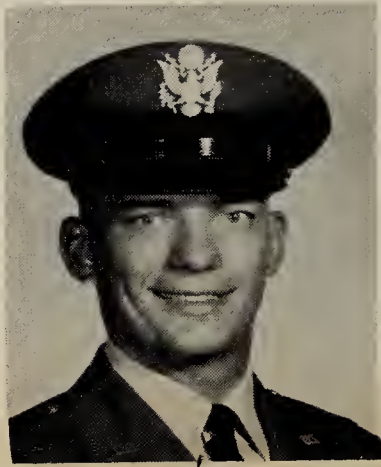

A roast beef dinner followed cocktails and at 9 P.M. a crowd of more than 500 attended the homecoming dance.

Many alumni stayed over Saturday night, taxing six motels in the area to capacity and Sunday they attended the 10:45 A.M. Mass offered for deceased alumni.

The continuing warm and pleasant weather kept many of the old grads on campus Sunday for picnics, tours of the new buildings and visits with members of the faculty and old friends.

It was the largest homecoming in the history of St. Joseph's.

Brother Gerard, C.P.P.S.

Brother John, C.P.P.S.

Brother Gerard, C.P.P.S., present manager of the Student Center Recreation Room at Saint Joseph's College, and his predecessor, Brother John Bruney, C.P.P.S., participated in the program for the 14th annual Mission Secretariat which was held September 23-25 in Washington, D.C.

Brother John was chairman for the Brothers' Panel and Brother Gerard was on a panel discussing the address, "Sacramental Character — Mission to Worship and Work."

Brother Bruney was at St. Joseph's from 1950 until 1958 and is presently assistant vocation director for the Society of the Precious Blood with headquarters at Brunnerdale Seminary in Canton, Ohio.

IH Corp. Names Callahan New VP

William E. Callahan, '39, 616 S. Cumberland Ave., Oak Park, Illinois, has been named Vice-president of the International Harvester Corporation. In addition to his new position, Callahan will retain his former post as executive head of the International Harvester Corporation's motor truck division.

Following his elementary school days in Rensselaer, Callahan studied for two years in Canton, Ohio, after which he returned to Rensselaer and enrolled at St. Joseph's College. After leaving St. Joseph's he received his business groundwork as an employee of his father, who was an implement dealer in Rensselaer for many years.

Rensselaer, Ind. — What's beneath the ground we walk on? That question is being answered in a cooperative venture by geologists working with the Indiana Geological Survey and similar departments in Ohio and Illinois.

The geologists are drawn from the geological survey personnel and from colleges and universities in the three state area, including Saint Joseph's, where two faculty members, the Rev. Donald Ballman, C.P.P.S., dean of the college and associate professor of geology, and Michael E. Davis, chairman of the geology department are involved in the project.

Davis describes the job as "an interpretation of glacial deposits in northern Indiana and their possible effect in future development of the state." The results of the survey, Davis points out, are being mapped and eventually these maps will be published. The data will be of value in selecting sources for construction materials and water, for determining highway routes, and for various forms of commercial development.

The two St. Joe geologists are working in an area that includes Jasper, Newton, White Pulaski and Stark counties. "Most of the material beneath the surface around here is glacial rock debris that was pushed down in front of the glaciers and contained in the glacial ice," Davis said. It is generally believed that the latest of the glaciers covered the area seven to ten thousand years ago.

Included in the glacial deposits are rock fragments which in some areas act like a huge sponge. The space between the fragments often becomes filled with water and if the area is large enough it is a potential water source. "One example like that is right here at St. Joe, which as a matter of fact we use as the water supply source for the college," Davis said.

The geologists begin their investigation by checking topographical maps and aerial photos for surface features such as drainage cuts and ancient lake beds which have been dry for thousands of years. Then they auger about 12 feet into the sub-soil, investigate the material they find, classify it and log the findings on maps.

The knowledge obtained by these surveys has any number of practical uses. "Construction materials, for example, are getting to be a problem as we continue to build more and more highways," Davis said. "When this job is completed, we'll be able to get an idea of the best places to look for these materials," he said.

If you've seen highways which seem to have buckled, you have an idea of how valuable a knowledge of sub-surface materials is in highway construction. "If the highway is built over an area which might contain abnormal amounts of water somewhere near the surface, there may be a problem of ice forming in the winter. Expansion of the ice may cause the concrete to break. There's also the problem of trying to lay foundations for large buildings in areas where there is excessive water. Knowing what's there beforehand can save a lot of headaches," Davis said.

When the survey is completed, both government and industry will have data at their fingertips which will indicate what is between the soil and the bedrock over the three state area.

Holstein Faces Rebuilding Job in '63-'64 Season

A small squad of eleven basketball players, led by three returning lettermen, reported to St. Joe's coach Jim Holstein last week to begin training for a tough 23 game schedule.

Coach Holstein is faced with a major rebuilding job, starting at guard where we have lost a pair of hot shooters, Russ Marcinek and George Post, both of whom averaged more than 20 points a game during the '62-'63 campaign. Marcinek was graduated and Post withdrew for personal reasons. Also gone from the first unit are center Art Voellinger and forward Bill Braunbeck, who were graduated. This leaves forward Fred Farley, a junior, as the only returning member of last year's first unit. Forward Lonnie Brunswick and guard Ken Dockus are the only other returning lettermen.

Farley, a co-captain this year, averaged ten points and eight rebounds per game last season. Paul Zosel, who transferred to St. Joe from the University of Michigan, is the other co-captain.

"The boys are all in good condition, but we can only speculate about our prospects at this time because of the lack of experience," Holstein said. "We'll be taller on the front line but we won't be as fast as we were last year. After having two of the finest guards in the state, we find that guard — right now — is the weakest part of our game. We'll have to find somebody to trigger our offense," Holstein said.

The guard candidates are Dockus, 6-1 junior from Chicago; Tom Sager, 6-0, from Milwaukee, Wis. the only senior on the squad; John Crowley, 6-1 junior from Chicago; Tom Crowley, 5-10 sophomore from Oak Park, Ill.; and Carl Bossung, 6-3 sophomore from Reynolds, Ind. Center candidates are Al Papai, 6-5 junior from South Bend and Robert Mokres, 6-6 sophomore from Milwaukee. The forwards are Farley, 6-3 junior from Tiffin, Ohio; Zosel, 6-4 junior from Des Moines, Iowa; Brunswick, 6-4 junior from Burkettsville, Ohio; and Larry Yeagley, 6-4 sophomore from South Bend.

In addition to the twelve games with Indiana Collegiate Conference opponents, St. Joe will face eleven non-conference opponents including two-time NCAA champion Cincinnati. Other non-conference foes are Villa Madonna, Marian, Aquinas, St. Cloud State, St. Ambrose, Indiana Central, Franklin, Wabash, Manchester, and Wheaton.

1963-'64 Schedule

Tennis Pro Joins SJC Coaching Staff

Rensselaer, Ind. — Richard Scharf, director of athletics at Saint Joseph's College, announces the appointment of Charles Dickinson, Rensselaer, as varsity tennis coach. Dickinson, 31, was a member of the varsity team at Michigan State University in 1951 and has been employed as a tennis professional during the past three summers at Wequestonsing resort in northern Michigan.

Dickinson held his first meeting with the varsity this week and said he was "impressed with the attitude of the players. They're very business-like, but of course I won't know much about our chances until I have an opportunity to start working with the players on the court," he said. The new coach hopes to get in a few workouts this fall, weather permitting, and plans to begin training in earnest next February.

"I've been playing tennis since I was eight years old, I love the game. So working here at St. Joe gives me a chance to do what I like best, and I'm also happy about the idea of going back to a college — I enjoy the atmosphere," Dickinson said.

Dickinson is in his first year as a teacher at Rensselaer high school after teaching and coaching at Port Huron and Harbor Springs high schools in Michigan for the past five years. He received bachelor of arts degrees in English and speech from Michigan State in 1954 and after two years in the Army he earned a Masters degree in education in 1957.

SJ Forms First Harrier Team

St. Joe fielded its first cross country team in history this fall with Bill Braunbeck coaching the thinclads. Braunbeck starred on Puma basketball teams during the past three years, coached the frosh baseball team last year and is now a teacher at St. Augustine's in Rensselaer.

The Pumas first meet was a triangular affair with Valparaiso and Indiana State and their second outing was against Evansville. Lack of experience and depth cost both meets, but the boys are improving each week. Rose Poly, the Little State meet and the Indiana Collegiate Conference meet will round out the schedule for 1963, but next year St. Joe probably will have a larger schedule and certainly an improved team.

Members of the varsity this year are: John Caccamo, Chicago; Bob Geoffrion, Indianapolis; George Lawler, Chicago; Mike Leydon, Chicago; Bob Marx, St. Louis; Dave Rubner, Milwaukee and Fran Sloan, Chicago. Sloan and Marx are the only seniors.

The frosh squad consists of Bob Cwierniak, Bob Kramer, Keith Liggett and John Mannon, all from Chicago.

Wanted: Old Timers With "Cage" Skill

How would you like to regain a bit of your youth, capture once again that old college spirit? Here's your opportunity.

The St. Joe athletic department and the alumni office will sponsor a varsity-alumni basketball game and also a game between two teams of old timers here on the campus November 24.

Due to the increased number of former Puma cagers who are interested in participating in the varsity-alumni game, the athletic department had to limit invitations for that game to those players who were graduated within the past five years — BUT, you old timers can sign up now for the other game.

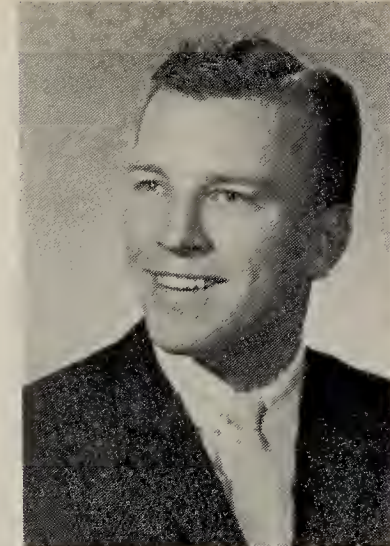

The old timers vs. old timers preliminary will start at 1 P.M., Nov. 24th, and when it is completed the varsity—"younger" alumni game will get underway.

A buffet dinner for alumni, their wives and friends, coaches and the cheering section will follow the game.

If you're interested, please fill out the coupon on this page (lower right) and send it to: Old Timers, Box 802, Saint Joseph's College, Rensselaer, Indiana.

Oh, yes! Please bring your own equipment.

Ex Puma Athletes Get Advancements

George Lux

The careers of three grads, who chose athletics as a career, advanced another notch recently. Jim Righeimer, '54, football coach at Weber high school was named president of the Catholic League Coaches Association of the greater Chicago area; and Will Kellogg, '55, athletic director at Brother Rice high school was named secretary of the same organization. George Lux, '58, was appointed head basketball coach at St. Ignatius high school, Chicago.

Righeimer was a center on the Puma varsity football squad for three years and is remembered as a hardnosed player who was outstanding on defense.

Kellogg played guard on the basketball varsity for four years and was a member of the ICC championship team of '52-'53. He coached at St. Peter and Paul high school in Ottawa, Ohio before moving to Chicago.

Lux also played guard for the Puma cagers during his varsity career. For the past three years he has been assistant coach at Brother Rice where his bantam and flyweight teams held a 25-1 record last season.

Bus. Ad. Is Most Popular Major In '63

According to a bulletin issued by the office of the Registrar, on majors and programs of study for the first semester of the 1963-64 school year, the percentage of students with a major in business administration is the highest since 1958. For this semester, 23.90 per cent of the students at St. Joseph's are enrolled in the business administration courses of finance, management or marketing.

The most dramatic rise is in the percentage of students enrolled in history majors. This now stands at 10.13 as compared to 8.69 last year, and 5.79, the lowest mark for the seven year period from 1957.

The bulletin states that the slight drop in education majors, 2.06 last year to 1.81 this semester, reflects the fact that secondary education can no longer be used as a major — a secondary teacher must major in the subject in which he plans to teach.

Statistics on engineering enrollments in the past seven years listed in the bulletin reflect a steady decline. Math and mathematics have also declined, due to the low freshman registration in these courses this year. Engineering enrollments have declined from a peak of 14.97 in 1957-58 school year to 5.61 the first semester of this year. Math-physics has declined to 0.99 from a peak of 1.83 in 1959-60.

A steady rise is reflected in English and political science enrollments. The percentage of students majoring in English has risen from 2.20 in 1958-59 to 6.06. Political science stands at 4.16 as compared to a 0.44 mark in 1957-58.

The careers for which students are preparing can in most cases be fairly easily discovered from their majors. The bulletin states that the distribution in the fields of medicine, law, teaching, and dentistry is of interest. This is so because teaching is far ahead with 178 students intending to pursue it as a career, as compared to 64 in medicine, 86 in law and 18 in dentistry.

By numerical breakdown, the largest group, business administration, is composed of 264 of our 1106 enrolled students. Of the business administration majors, management leads with 125. Marketing is second with 105, and finance last with 34.

One hundred and thirty-four students are enrolled in accounting, the second largest group. The sophomore class has the largest enrollment here with 47.

The third largest group, history,

Indian School Grad Dies at 102

(From the Rensselaer Republican)

Kiki Rizensun (Rising Sun), a 102-year-old full-blooded Sioux Indian who attended the Indian School located on a section of the present St. Joseph's College tract, died recently in a nursing home in South Bend, Indiana.

After leaving the Indian school which was established by Catherine Drexel, Rizensun sought his fortune in the world beyond Rensselaer. During the many decades to follow he resided for the most part in the South Bend area, and made occasional forays to other places as the wanderlust of his people took possession of him. During the past two decades Rizensun returned here for brief residence to work on farms, odd jobs, and to "live again the days of his youth." His last residence here was about fifteen years ago when he remained for a year or more to re-live the "other days," to reminisce, to tell stories of the past when both he and the community were young, and to fish, hunt, and indulge in Indiana lore.

Rizensun was born on an Indian reservation near Cheyenne, Wyoming, May 12, 1861. His friends, who believed he was the oldest Indian in the U.S., said he was the last of fourteen brothers and sisters. Wanderlust overcame him in his boyhood and as a result he came to Indiana.

Rizensun attributed his longevity to "no whiskey, no beer, and no bad women." He never married.

is composed of 112 students. The junior class, has the most history majors with 31.

There are 62 students who have declared as their major some phase of engineering. The biggest section is in civil engineering with 17, followed by electrical with 12, aeronautical and mechanical with 11 each, chemical with seven, industrial with three, and metallurgical with one.

A total of 199 students are enrolled in the sciences, biology leading the list with 79. Mathematics has 41, chemistry 28, geology 21, biology-chemistry 19, and math-physics has 11.

It is also note worthy that there are no seniors enrolled in engineering majors. There are also no senior math-physics or philosophy majors.

No one is enrolled in music as a major or program of study. After that, the major with the lowest enrollment (outside of engineering) is English-journalism with three, then agriculture, with four, and speech, first offered as a major only last year, with five.
